India's First Phygital Pharmacy Retail Business Model

BUILT IN , WITH A VISION FOR

From a USA insight, to an Indian Revolution in Pharma Retail

Conceived in the USA, the founding team brought together expertise across global pharma, artificial intelligence, healthcare logistics, and consumer trust. Their mission was clear: to reimagine how pharma retail works and make it future-ready for emerging markets like India.

- Designed with USA standards of precision and compliance
- Engineered to thrive in high-demand, high-volume environments
- Built to empower local retailers with trust, technology, and opportunity

S&P wasn't conceived as a business pitch, but as a shared mission — uniting three minds from vastly different backgrounds: global icon Sunny Leone, her partner Daniel Weber, and seasoned pharma expert Sougata Patra.

Born and raised in the USA, Sunny and Daniel brought a global outlook to the table. While living between India and the U.S., they recognized a critical gap: India's surging demand for accessible, reliable wellness solutions was being held back by outdated systems, counterfeit risks, and fragmented supply chains. Their American experience offered a blueprint for a more transparent, tech-enabled, and trustworthy model. Sougata Patra, with decades of on-ground leadership in Indian pharma, brought the operational depth to execute it at scale. What sets S&P apart is the integration of cutting-edge AI — predictive analytics, smart inventory, and digital intelligence — built on USA-grade technology to power an ecosystem that is both precise and scalable.

LEADERSHIP WITH PURPOSE

Sunny Leone Joins as an investor in S&P
— More Than a Face, A Force

AT S&P, LEADERSHIP IS

SUNNY LEONE

Sunny Leone, one of India's most trusted healthcare icon, joins as Executive Director and investor to lead with credibility, strategic influence, and market insight. For years, she has been the face of a multibillion-dollar global pharma and healthcare conglomerate, known for building consumer trust and driving results across global markets.

Now, she brings her proven brand power and business intuition to S&P to help:

- Build an authentic, consumer-first healthcare brand
- Accelerate digital adoption and national visibility
- Inspire a new generation of pharmacists and wellness entrepreneurs

A GLOBAL ENTREPRENEUR

A strong background in managing international businesses across entertainment and cosmetic products.

Joining S&P is more than a professional chapter — it's a mission. I was drawn to our bold vision of blending wellness with experience.
We're building a brand

accessible, trustworthy,
and even exciting.
Together, we're redefining pharma retail with technology, creativity,
and human connection.

--Mr. Daniel Weber
Executive Director
S&P Healthcare

DANIEL WEBER

Daniel Weber, a global entrepreneur and brand strategist, joins S&P Healthcare as Executive Director and strategic partner. With a strong background in managing international businesses across entertainment and cosmetic products, Daniel brings deep operational insight and global market understanding.

- Played a key role for over a decade in scaling brands and building trusted platforms along with Sunny Leone.
- Focus at S&P includes global expansion, system efficiency, and digital transformation.
- Utilizes international experience to support growth, partnerships, and innovation.
- Efforts are tailored specifically for the Indian market.

After two decades in healthcare, I saw consistent gaps in access, trust, and consumer connection. S&P Healthcare was created to bridge those gaps – with innovation, transparency, and a retail-first mindset. With patented innovations behind me, I've always believed in doing things differently. At S&P, we're not just delivering wellness – we're reimagining pharma retail to be smarter, more engaging, and truly consumer-centric.

Global Icons Sunny Leone & Daniel Weber Collaborate with S&P – As Featured in CIO.com, Outlook & REPUBLIC

Suncity Endeavours, a venture led by public figures Sunny Leone and Daniel Weber, has partnered with Sougata Patra, an alumnus of IIM Calcutta and a healthcare industry professional, to advance AI-enabled healthcare delivery in India. The collaboration focuses on the expansion of S&P Health, a technology-driven platform aimed at addressing key operational gaps in the pharmaceutical and over-the-counter (OTC) healthcare segments.

Sunny Leone and Daniel Weber have assumed strategic leadership positions as Executive Directors at S&P Health Care. The platform aims to streamline pharmaceutical logistics and product accessibility through the integration of artificial intelligence, centralized warehousing, and a Just-In-Time inventory model. Daniel Weber's role aligns with the leadership framework established to support the venture's geographic and digital expansion.

Sougata Patra, the Managing Director of S&P Healthcare, brings experience from leadership roles at Emami, AstraZeneca, Zydus Cadila, and other healthcare companies. He is credited with three published patents related to pharmaceutical retail models and AI-driven e-commerce:

- Direct-to-retail model for pharmaceutical distribution (Patent No. 201731047200, published January 2018).
- Regulated online marketplace for healthcare products (Patent No. 202031035561, published September 2020).
- AI-enabled B2B e-commerce platform for pharmaceutical retailers in India (Patent No. 202431022304, published July 2024).

S&P Health operates across four business verticals - private label, generics, manufacturer-led distribution, and collaborative offerings. The platform supports a network of retailers and stockists across India and addresses consumer needs in categories such as pain management, geriatric care, vitamins and supplements, sexual wellness, and chronic care.

The venture adopts a "phy-gital" approach by combining physical infrastructure with digital capabilities. The model focuses on improved delivery timelines, scalable distribution, and data-informed inventory systems designed to improve efficiency in the B2B pharmaceutical sector.
